CROPS SUFFER HEAVY DAMAGE FROM FLOODS

Corn and Wheat Hardest Hit, Farm Leaders Say; Loss Runs High.

MORAL UNDER WATER

Nevada and Upper Sandusky Still Inundated as 1913 Mark Is Surpassed.

Flood waters today continued to cover large parts of Marion county and surrounding counties despite general recession of rivers. Scioto water and back water from small creeks began to take down yesterday as nearly a foot of the village of Morral was under water, higher than in 1913, one of the highest floodtides to visit county. Morral is not located near a large river but yesterday a small creek coupled with large areas of surface water crept into that village forcing the evacuation of many homes and flooding virtually every basement in the village.

Mrs. Mary Parker, aged woman living alone, and Mrs. Carrie Young, living with her son A. C. Young and his wife, were carried from their marooned homes yesterday afternoon by sidewheeler. The rescuers, who waded in from three to four feet of water to reach the women included J. E. Parker, son of Mrs. Parker, C. D. Faurot, John Schleiger and C. G. Walters.

Water covered the first floor of the Parker residence to a depth of several inches and also the kitchen of the Young home. Virtually every home in the vicinity of East street was surrounded by water which approached the first floors and nearly filled basements.

In 1913 old residents of the village said, the water nearly reached the first floors of the same houses but did not go over. A vacant house owned by F. J. Moore on East street had two feet of water in the first floor.

Road Closed

The road to Brush Ridge about a half mile east of Morral was closed by high waters. Harmon lane, a half mile northwest of Morral was blocked by several feet of water from a small creek; the crossing of Irwin road and Morral pike south of the village was blocked yesterday in all four directions by surface water.

There has been no rain in the county since yesterday noon.

For Marion and vicinity the official weather forecast is partly cloudy with local showers tonight and Sunday—again bringing grave decline of crop successes to farmers. There will be little change in temperature. Weathersman E. H. Reffensperger said the highest temperature yesterday was 77 and the lowest 53, while a year ago the high was 92 and the low 69. Rainfall yesterday measured .49 of an inch.

In the eastern part of the county the Worthington was still out of its banks but covered no roads and was returned receding throughout.

Crop Loss High

Ranking high among the damages of the flood and storms throughout the state are those to crops—estimated to reach $1,000,000 according to an Associated Press dispatch. An estimate of the total damage in Marion county was not available but farm leaders said it will reach into the thousands of dollars.

Floods, water-soaked soil and crops beaten to the ground by wind and rain this week were causing considerable anxiety today among farmers throughout Marion county.

Although danger of extensive high waters is now apparently past, several thousand acres of land along river bottoms are still under water. At LaRue, the Scioto stood at 820 feet at 8 a. m. today and was falling slightly. It rose during the night from 820 feet, however. At Prospect, it stood at 9.30 feet at 8 a. m., a drop of about six inches from yesterday.

The Scioto still covered the Newman-Prospect road this morning and also hundreds of acres of land nearby. The rainfall was slight at Prospect during the night, measuring .20 of an inch.

Wheat and corn suffered generally throughout the county, according to reports to County Agent S. L. Anderson and Roland Leeper, manager of the Farm Bureau. The outcome of both crops depends on the weather for the next few weeks and especially the next few days, Mr. Anderson said.

Large Field Covered

Corn along the bottomlands, and even at considerable distances from rivers, was reported damaged. At the W. E. Clymer farm on the Agosta road, about two miles west of here, 160 acres of corn was largely inundated, in some places to a depth of four or five feet by waters of the Little Scioto.

At other farms throughout that

HARMONIZERS TURN JOCULAR

Second Group of Democrats Make Merry With Roosevelt on Isle Resort.

PRESIDENT INITIATED

Joking Question Regarding Third Term Evokes No Reply from Chief Executive.

By The Associated Press

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 26—A second batch of 100 Democratic congressmen went to the Jefferson Island in Chesapeake bay today for "an old fashioned political picnic" with President Roosevelt.

This description of sunburned guests returning from the first day's outing yesterday removed much of the political significance of the three-day affair.

The guests reported a smattering of serious political discussion interwoven with horseplay and relaxation. There was no denial, however, that the underlying purpose was to promote harmony in party ranks.

Robinson Leads Party

Sen. Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader, again led today's group in boarding boats at the naval academy dock for the hour and a half cruise to the island. President Roosevelt and members of his cabinet had remained there overnight.

Rep. Maury Maverick of Texas, leader of a self-styled house liberal bloc, said he had urged the President yesterday to keep congress in session until all of his program was on the statute books. To this, Maverick said the President replied:

"We're going through."

The Texan said he did not go into the legislative program with the President in detail, but limited he had mentioned the Roosevelt court bill specifically.

A group of opponents of the court bill said, however, they had not heard that measure mentioned.

Roosevelt Initiated

The highlight of the day, they reported, was the initiation of President Roosevelt into the "Demagogues club," a cloakroom

Swims, Wades Half Mile To Milk His Cows

Marion Co. Man Dons Bathing Suit To Reach Stock in Flood.

It would take a bathing beauty to be a milk maid on the farm of Ralph Roseberry on Harding Highway west of Marion today, for this morning Mr. Roseberry had to don a bathing suit and wade and swim a half mile to reach his three cows for milk.

The three animals, isolated since late last night by back waters of the Little Scioto, are still marooned on a little plot of high ground but are in no danger, Mr. Roseberry said. Mr. Roseberry will repeat the milking cruise this evening.

At 8 o'clock this morning, milking time, Mr. Roseberry surveyed the broad expanse of water covering scores of acres to a depth of about four feet. The milking had to be done, so he put on his bathing suit and started to wade. For most of the distance but a few yards, he was able to touch bottom, but had to swim with a three gallon can while crossing a creek.

After milking the cows and obtaining three gallons of milk, weighing about 25 pounds, he started back, reaching dry land safely.

The back waters were continuing to rise slightly at noon today in the vicinity, but offered no danger to the cows or other animals, Mr. Roseberry said.

GEDEON KILLING SUSPECT FLEES AT CLEVELAND

Artist Working as Bar Boy Disappears After Associates Recognize Him.

POLICE START SEARCH

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, June 26 — An artist who police said "confessingly" was Robert Irwin fled his shabby, dimly-lighted room and left only a slender trail today for authorities seeking him for the New York Gedeon murders.

A kitchen girl, a clerk and a bell-hop, sister employees at a leading downtown hotel identified a bar boy there as the mysterious, dreamy student charged with slaying the late March 25 party Veronica Gedeon, her mother, and a maid who roomed at their east side flat.

"The man definitely is Irwin," declared Detective Lieut. Stephen Tomer as a widespread hunt was started for the fugitive a few hours after he vanished from the Lake Erie city.

Lunchbox Search

The kitchen girl, attractive, chubby dark-haired Henrietta Kwiatkowski, 19, started police on an intensive search for the former lunch-time artist, accused of murder by implication.

She recognized, as she thumbed through a detective story magazine Wednesday night, a resemblance between the disheveled man named as the killer of wife and mother and the bar boy who had worked at the hotel for a month and a half.

Miss Kwiatkowski who said "I didn't tell police because I'm scared to get mixed up in a murder case," asked him playfully last night:

"Say, Bob, what is your real name, anyhow?"

"Robert Murray, why?" she said was the reply.

"Then I said did you ever hear of Robert Irwin and he turned his back to me and said 'No'—sounding kind of indifferent. I didn't see the expression on his face. He turned and walked out of the hotel kitchen and that was the last I ever saw of him."

Checks with Others

She took the picture to other hotel employees and all remarked of the close resemblance. Three hours later, the said, "nobody knew where he was."

"I hadn't thought of him as a murderer, it was only after he was gone that I realized he must have been Irwin."

Police were called and the search started early today for the man sought throughout the nation since early in April—the man named by Assistant Chief Inspector John A. Lyons of New York police as the Easter Sunday slayer of Miss Gedeon, her mother, Mary, 54, and a male roomer in their Beckman hill apartment.

There they found no trace of the man, whom they were told had registered April 8 under the name of James Murdock, and had informed the hotel on June 11 that the name Murdock was a mistake, and that his name really was James Murray.

Find Murder Stories

In the apartment, Tomer said, were found a dozen New York papers. Several of them referred to the Gedeon murders, and parts of each story had been clipped out.

Also left behind was a shabby pair of low-heeled black shoes which had been half-soled. Inside was the name of a firm ending with the faintly decipherable letters "Ltd." This, Tomer said, corresponded with a police circular showing Irwin owned a pair of Canadian-made shoes.

He was "positively identified" by Miss Kwiatkowski, a clerk, Manuel Meridas, and at least a half-dozen other hotel employes. "There is no doubt about it," Tomer declared.

The search first led to a Chicago-bound bus, but police said this was a "precautionary" measure and that they were not at all certain the bar boy boarded the bus. Hurried radio alarms were flashed to other midwest police departments.

Check Buses at Toledo

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 26—State highway patrol headquarters said today its officers had checked three Chicago-bound buses at Toledo but found no trace of Robert Irwin, wanted for the Gedeon triple murders in New York. The patrol made the check at the request of Cleveland police.

Mary and Buddy Quietly Recite Their Nuptial Vows

Private Ceremony at Friend's Home Contrasts With Fanfare of Recent MacDonald-Raymond Rites.

By The Associated Press

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., June 26—In a ceremony as private as once reminded was quick, Mary Pickford will become the bride of Buddy Rogers late today.

The sunshine "America's sweetheart" and "America's boy friend" will say "I do" at 5 o'clock this afternoon (7 p. m. Marion time) in a setting strangely contrasting with the fanfare of their predecessors, Gladys Glad and Douglas Fairbanks.

Where a royal array of guests were invited and 10,000 fans milled about the fashionable church for the Fairbanks-MacDonald-Ray-mond wedding, most guests of Hollywood's "Mary" came only at the Pickfair Rogers party will number only 24—with a full guard of police assigned to see that there were no uninvited additions.

The scene Pacific-ward shaded garden nook beneath a sprawling oak tree—might have been taken from a stocked simplicity from one of the screen plays in which the bride rose to the movie heights.

Rev. James Hamilton Lash, pastor of the Hollywood Congregational church, will read the ceremony in the garden at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis B. Lighton, friends of the bride and groom.

CHARLES ROGERS

Afterward, the couple will come back for a Honolulu honeymoon on the same liner bearing the newlywed Raymonds.

Mary will wear blue, "sky blue," with a small circular tiara hat colored "the de rigueur" (dress of wine.) Her gloves will be of the same shade. Buddy will be formally attired.

The maid of honor will be Mrs. Lighton, known professionally as Hope Loring. It was she who wrote the scenario for "My Best Girl" 10 years ago, in which Buddy, then a film newcomer, was Mary's leading man. Lighton, an executive at M-G-M studio, helped make Buddy's starring picture in the early talkie days at Paramount.

Best man will be Buddy's younger brother, B. H. Rogers.

Witnesses to the wedding will be: Miss Gwynne Pickford, Mary's niece and adopted daughter; Frances Marion, highest paid woman scenarist; and Mary's long-time friend; Mrs. Selmar Chalif, Mary's cousin, and her husband, who will give Mary in marriage, and their son, Don; John Lock, husband of the late Lottie Pickford; Mrs. F. E. Benson, a cousin of Mary's; Buddy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Rogers of Olathe, Kas.; Mrs. John Binford, Buddy's sister, and her daughter, Shirley Jane, and Buddy's aunt, Mrs. William Rockaston and of Chicago.

After the wedding guests will be assembled in the church in groups of four. The garden is not small to accommodate more than a quarter of photographers at the time.

There will be no newsreel pictures. Despite her long experience before the moving picture cameras Mary objected against the idea after she saw the personal pictures of the Duke and Duchess of Windsor at their wedding.

Later all motion picture friends and newspaper people will gather at Pickfair for a reception. Telegrams came to the bride-to-be from all parts after Mary and her fiancee announced. Douglas Fairbanks, it will be remembered, sent guests an invitation to a reception in addition signed by Mary Beverly Hills police will do the admiring.

Among the guests will be a representative of the screaming comedy and Chief of Police Charles Blair of Beverly Hills. The screaming man was one that Mary and Buddy "gave Parker to Hope" to entertain during the boat trip to Honolulu. Chief Blair will have a motion cycle escort ready in the event the screaming man isn't permissive enough.

The wedding will be the third for Miss Pickford. Her first husband was Owen Moore, whom she married in 1911, and divorced eight years later. Mary was 26 when she married Moore, who then was 25.

Miss Pickford married Douglas Fairbanks, 20 years her senior, in 1920. She divorced him in 1935.

The marriage will be the first for Buddy, 11 years younger than Miss Pickford, who is 43.

CIO SUES TO REMOVE TROOPS FROM PLANTS AS WORKERS POUR IN

Executives Claim Their Mills Are Flooded With Workers After Change of Shifts in Morning.

SAY STRIKE IS OVER

SWOC Calls for Rally of Strikers, Declaring Walkout a Success as New Crisis Approaches.

By The Associated Press

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 26—Officials of Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. and Republic Steel Corp. plants reopened under protection of police and national guardsmen after a five weeks strike, claimed today the influx of mill hands for the day and night shifts had flooded the plants with workers.

After a change of shifts in the steel-burdened valley at 7 a. m. today, Ray Laverty, district manager for Republic Steel, said the "picture is over as far as we are concerned here." He said between 4,500 and 4,800 men, out of a normal force of 6,000 men, had entered the plant in the Brier Hill district.

W. G. Gilson, operating vice president of Sheet & Tube, said "we are terribly flooded with men." He estimated that 4,700 men had reported for duty on the morning shift at the Sharpsville works where a normal force of about 5,000 is employed day and night.

Other operating officials said they had no definite figures on the number of Sheet & Tube men who had returned to work, but estimated that 85 per cent of a normal force of 14,000 had reported for the first day and night "turns."

Republic reported that one blast furnace had made a start at midnight, the first production in the plant since May 26.

Leaders of the Steel Workers Organizing Committee sent out a call for a mass meeting of strikers and pickets for 2 p. m. today.

The CIO, in a full page advertisement published here today declared "the first 48 hours of the Youngstown movement show that the strikers are holding to a man."

"Detroit is staying them in the line," said the committee of the steel executives. "We have just begun the fight."

Plant officials said they expect rolling mills to be operating normally by Monday with the blast furnaces ready for smelting operations about the middle of the week.

The 15-hour shifts at the plants in Youngstown were expected to be maintained until mill operations reach normal basis.

Definitely there was a new crisis at hand in the month-long turmoil that has rendered 100,000 idle and stretched into seven states. Troops costing the state of Ohio more than $25,000 a day, can not remain in the valley forever. What may happen when they are withdrawn remains a matter of deep concern.

The governor has not indicated how long the troops are to stay. They are not expected to withdraw at least until the middle of next week.

Gov. Davey, whose national guardsmen were cheered by strikers when they entered the valley Tuesday to enforce the "status

THIRD TERM TALK STIRS WASHINGTON

Gov. Earle's Backing of Roosevelt for 1940 Creates Flurry of Speculation.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 26—The declaration by Gov. George H. Earle of Pennsylvania for the re-election of President Roosevelt in 1940 has created a flurry of third-term speculation in the capital.

Members of congress expressed divergent opinions. Mr. Roosevelt has made no public comment since Earle's statement. At the Democratic victory dinner last March he said:

"My great ambition of January 20, 1941, is to turn over this desk and chair in the White House to my successor, whoever he may be, with the assurance that I am at the same time turning over to him as President a nation intact, a nation at peace, a nation prosperous."

Denial Reported

Sen. Wagner, Democrat of New York, said yesterday, the New York Evening Journal reported, that Mr. Roosevelt told him he would not seek another term. The conversation, the paper said, took place after Earle spoke.

Legislators in cloakroom conversations listed several arguments which opposing sides might raise. These contentions, they said, could be advanced against a third term:

1. The precedent against a third term has existed since George Washington's time. Only one President—Ulysses S. Grant—sought a

Court Asked To Prevent Marx and Civil Leaders from Enforcing Army Order Issued by Davey.

WANT TO ASSEMBLE

Union Feared Bloodshed When It Asked Troops To Bar Back to Work Move in Youngstown.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 26—The CIO filed in federal court today a suit to enjoin Gov. Martin L. Davey from using national guard troops in the Mahoning valley to prevent men returning to work in the strike-paralyzed steel mills.

Federal Judge Matt G. Underwood set a hearing for next Thursday on the motion.

A request that the governor, Adjt. Gen. Hugh W. Vail, Sheriff Ralph E. Elser of Mahoning county and Mayor Roy F. Hardman of Youngstown show cause "for violating the federal Constitution by depriving the citizens of free speech and assembly" was filed with the suit.

The suit specifically asked that Gen. Vail and civil authorities be prohibited from enforcing the proclamation of Gov. Davey, who ordered the troops Tuesday night to afford protection to workers desiring to return to their jobs.

Carrington T. Marshall, former Ohio chief justice, filed the suit in behalf of the CIO.

Gov. Davey ordered out the national guard last Monday at the request of CIO officials when the Republic Steel Corp. and the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. announced they would attempt to reopen Tuesday.

The executive ordered 4,500 guardsmen to retain the "status quo"—plants operating were at lowest to continue and those that were shut down remained closed—pending efforts of the federal mediation board to bring about a settlement of the month-old dispute.

The CIO, in requesting troops said that unless the "back to work" movement was halted, there likely would be bloodshed.

Thursday, following the final meeting of the mediation board the governor issued an order saying "those who do want to return to their employment shall enjoy the privilege without being molested."

"The right to work is sacred," the governor said. "The right to strike is equally valid. Those who wish to remain on strike certainly are entitled to do so, and to continue any and all lawful practices."

Requests made in the injunction suit sought to restrain and enjoin the defendants from:

Enforcing or attempting to enforce the proclamation of Sheriff Elser; interfering or attempting to interfere with the rights of citizens concerning free speech and other provisions of the constitution;

Interfering with the rights to assemble peaceably, to picket in concerted action for mutual aid and protection, to travel in and upon highways of public places particularly in Mahoning and Trumbull counties;

Intimidating, coercing, arrest, assaulting, or detaining members of the committee, in the strike, and in their lawful collective action to secure collective bargaining; and denying persons illegally arrested and detained the right to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation against them and denying them the assistance of counsel for their defense;

Unlawful searching and seizing of property and persons of the committee; aiding the Republic Steel Corp., the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., the Inland Steel Co., and the Bethlehem Steel Corp. to deny to the members of the committee the rights guaranteed by the national labor relations act, and employing the services of armed persons, whether special deputies, national guardsmen or vigilantes.

Divine's Disciple Spent Lavishly, Witnesses Claim

Described as Giving Away $1,000 Bills, Laughing a Lot and Seeing Lights.

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, June 26—A lavish spender is John Wuest Hunt, heir to a candy fortune and head of Father Divine's chamber of commerce department, say witnesses at his trial on Mann act charges.

Harold B. "John the Baptist" Smith said Hunt, grandson of the man who gave the world lollipops, had moments of high religious fervor when he gave away $1,000 bills, laughed a great deal—and saw lights.

The lights, Smith testified, surrounded Delight Jewett, 17-year-old Denver girl whom Hunt, Smith and two gray haired women, all white, are accused of transporting to Beverly Hills for immoral purposes.

"I didn't see 'em myself," admitted Smith, "but John said they were gorgeous—brilliant and of different colors, like pink and red and silver."

Smith said Father Divine put him and Hunt in charge of his chamber of commerce department and sent them out to build up a huge trade empire. They crossed the continent in Hunt's $10,000 "golden chariot," holding meetings and banquets.

"Why, we spent as much as $350

Christian Essentials

A SERMONETTE
By DR. HARRY L. BELL
Pastor, the Central Christian Church.

VISION. "Where there is no vision the people perish." The converse of this is also true, and where there is a vision the people live and endure.

A vision has been the incentive to every great achievement. The law that governs the movements of the planets, and enables astronomers to determine the exact time and place that an eclipse or a comet can be seen, was discovered by a man who wondered why an apple should fall to the ground.

The Suez canal existed in the mind of De Lesseps before it became a reality. Napoleon is said to have received his youthful vision on the fateful day that he read Bishop Bossuet's "Discourse on Universal History," with its description of Alexander and Caesar. When he finished reading, it is said that he sprang to his feet, face flushed, eyes blazing with fire as he cried out, "I, too, shall be a conqueror, and perhaps an emperor." When great tasks seize the mind of men, tremendous results are possible. A vision is behind all true service for God and humanity. It was a vision that made Dr. Livingstone the great missionary explorer of the Dark Continent. It was the sermon of a preacher declaring that the world had not yet seen what it was possible for one fully consecrated man to accomplish that gave a vision to Dwight L. Moody, and produced the greatest evangelist of the nineteenth century.

Faith. Having a vision, we need faith to carry it out, or else the vision becomes a dream. We need faith in the power of God. One of the weaknesses of our modern Christianity is the extent to which we take into account the forces about us, and forget the forces above us. "The fight is likely to be very bitter, Mr. Lincoln," said one of his colleagues at the opening of the war between the States. "and don't you think we had better get God on our side?" "No," replied Lincoln, "let us get on God's side." Some one has said the devil may win many a skirmish, but God always wins the battles." See to it that we get on God's side and trust Him. Faith is a venture, but it is a venture with God. Carey was told that he might as well preach to the monkey in the jungle as to the Hindus, but the miracle of modern missions is the answer. Dr. Morrison, on his way to China, was asked by the captain of the vessel if he expected to convert 300,000,000 Chinese to Christianity, and the youth replied, "No, I do not; but I expect God will."

Prayer. Does it come to you as a disappointment that I should mention what seems to be almost a platitude? If so, it is justified by the fact that today prayer is being described as a lost art.

The present tendency is to trust methods. We are inclined to try every resource under heaven that human wisdom and ingenuity can invent before the divine method of prayer. Organization has been emphasized and over-emphasized, but the machinery of committee and organizations will be as fruitless as the Bethany fig tree, and will end in simply making a stir, unless we make our plans upon our knees. Prayer is Christ's method. We have a supernatural task which demands supernatural strength. We might as well try to move the earth off its axis as to conquer our cities and our world for Christ without prayer. Prayer is the power by which every great conquest of the gospel has been achieved from Pentecost till the present, and it will decide the victories of the future. Pray ye the Lord of the harvest. Pray always. Pray without ceasing. It is the Master's way. It is the sure way. It is the only way.

The call of the hour is for the ministers, the elders, the deacons of our churches, and those who sit in the pews as well, to recognize the presence of God today, and to become men and women of vision, faith and prayer. Herein lies our lack and our weakness.

Marriage Meddlers

BY ADELE GARRISON

Hank and Bill Appear in Best Clothes to Welcome Girls to Camp.

AS BILL and Hank came out of the door of the cabin, where they had been hastily dressing, and advanced to meet the newcomers to the camp, I noted with pride that they were sartorially correct in every detail. White linen suits, white shoes, white silk socks were immaculate on both, while Bill's dark blue cravat and matching handkerchief, and Hank's maroon counterparts reserved the attention I saw they were receiving from the sharp eyes of Marion and Carolyn.

They are stalwart, well-built, good-looking lads, and their schooling has transmuted the shyness and awkardness of their grammar-school days into social ease. They did not have the debonair manner and the assured poise of the Yale men and West Point cadets, who had until now constituted the social world of the two girls, but I knew that they were indeed manna in the social wilderness which the camp, tenanted by middle-aged people and young children, must appear to the Whitney Hall girls.

I saw the eyes of Marion and Carolyn exchanging quick, furtive glances. Then they nodded ever so slightly to each other, and I knew that the boys had measured up to their hypercritical standards.

Glances Go Unseen

Their casual greeting followed so swiftly upon their almost imperceptible nods and glances that I was sure Bill and Hank had not seen them. Hank, always the "brasher" of the two brothers, screwed an imaginary monocle into his eye and looked the girls over with a lordly air.

"Not bad, not bad, at all," he drawled. "How about it, mademoiselles? Uncle Dicky tells me you'd like to step out tonight, so we dressed all up with clean shirts 'n' everything. If you're good little girls and behave yourselves, we'll trot you around."

"Cut it out, Hank," his brother commanded savagely, but Carolyn was already in action.

"We hope you've shaved," she said with apparent innocence, and I saw both boys wince as the shaft went home, for their faces as yet are entirely guiltless of hair. But they rallied gamely.

"Not yet, but soon," Hank answered. "There's only one barber within 20 miles, and he's terribly independent about office hours. We thought we'd stop on the way down to the cafe, and you girls could wait in the car while we get shaved. We'll get you a deck of cards and some caramels. You can play double solitaire, if you like. I remember you used to think a lot of that fool game."

Carolyn's eyes were glittering with the joy of battle, and I knew that Marion, though gentler and less militant, would swing into action if Hank should continue his baiting. From Bill's rising flush, I read his sensitive distaste for the raillery.

Lillian's keen eyes also had seen the distress in William's face, and she saved me the trouble of interfering by using her authority as mother and chaperone.

"Far be it from me to hamper this brilliant exchange of repartee," she said, with just enough disdainful amusement in her tone to make Hank and Carolyn flush self-consciously, "but if you girls are going to match the sartorial splendor of these young men, you'd better get busy pronto with flatirons, and so forth and so on. Let Aunt Madge show you where you can set up an ironing board. With the aid of the boys, I'll get your bags sorted out of the trunk and bring them over to you. All right, boys, if you don't mind lending a hand."

Madge Takes Girls

They stepped forward with alacrity, but Williams was already at the car door. Fearing Hank might return to the fray, although I was fairly sure that Lillian's veiled sarcasm had halted him, I slipped my hands into the arms of the girls standing on either side of me and urged them toward the "nursery" cabin, the largest of the three, which had an extra room for domestic emergencies.

"Come in here and set up housekeeping," I said, smiling at them.

The Stars Say—

For Saturday, June 26

SUNDAY'S HOROSCOPE may be considered a propitious one, as it holds omens of many difficulties. Employment, business, domestic and purely intimate affairs may prove perplexing and may precipitate excitement, confusion, unwelcome change and probably quarrels and tumult. Impetuosity and rashness may incite to trouble, even in the matter of romance or friendship. Be calm, controlled and amiable.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year in which much depends upon personal sagacity, self-control and good nature, since reckless, tempestuous and violent behavior is seen as a detriment to all the affairs, business and private.

A child born on this day may be constructive and talented but may defeat its best prospects by self-indulgence, impetuosity, wayward and headstrong conduct. It may have ardent, violent and tumultuous romances and dangerous adventures if not properly directed and disciplined in youth.

For Monday, June 26

MONDAY'S ASTROLOGICAL forecast is for a very lively and eventful day, with much of an advantageous and pleasant nature in both business and private lives. Matters of a social, artistic, romantic or domestic character may be uppermost in the attention, but these may culminate in generally propitious announcements. Business and personal reactions should prove profitable and pleasant.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a very lively, progressive and happy year, with business and social affairs auspicious reactions. Financial should prove profitable as well as pleasant. All partnerships, contracts, writings, advertising and promotional enterprises should flourish.

A child born on this day may be singularly versatile and ambitious and industrious and should attain valuable position and prestige by the talents as well as its social and friendly traits.

"I Had No Idea Your Splendid Service Was So Modestly Priced," said a person whom we recently served. "In fact, I hesitated before asking you to conduct the ceremony, since I thought that the beauty and dignity for which your services are noted would mean that they were not within my means. I am so happy to know that I finally chose you, for I feel that only your expert staff could do justice to the memory of one I held dear. I cannot thank you enough for making possible such a beautiful service for those of us who cannot afford to be extravagant."

Just Things

History

HISTORY repeats itself and if you don't believe it just amble down the main stem and get an eyeful of the little girls who are getting in on the turn of fashions in hairdress. The "bob" is slowly but surely giving way to braids and hair ribbons. We met one little miss recently who was an exact replica of ourselves a few decades ago, that is so far as her hair-dress was concerned. Parted in the vicinity of the ear on either side, these sidelocks were braided, oh so neatly, brought back into a larger braid at either side of the back of the head and then turned under and tied securely with the gayest of ribbons. And it looked smart. But there's a catch in it and don't you forget it. Of course ribbons always have to be crisp and clean, and a Saturday morning job will be to wash and press all the hair ribbons for next week of school. They always have to be taken off at night, folded smoothly for the next day's wear for whod ever want to be caught going to school with a wrinkled hair ribbon on? Then there's grief connected with it if you happen to be one of a family of several girls because always there is one smart one who rises bettimes and manages to possess herself of the choicest pair of ribbons. Sounds like a bit of grief but you know we femmes have to pay a price for elegance and it's our guess that the sob sisters, the secretaries of labor, the stenogs and housewives of 1931 will go through with it.

Trademarks

YOU may not believe it but every trade has its mark. The public school teacher who guides the destinies of our youth for nine months of the year can be spotted nine times out of the much quoted 10 as can the gal that makes the funny little curly-cues and then right before one's very eyes transposes them into the kings English and also she who chronicles the doings of the public bears her own trademark. At the present we are coddling a very unpleasant badge of servitude a corn on one of our thumbs, cause as might easily be guessed from nothing more or less than beating the typewriter spacer.

Caught

YOUNGSTERS can be embarrassing at times and sometimes we have it coming to us. We lined recently at a home where it was customary for the two juveniles of the family to return thanks and it was a duty which they both took very seriously. The fact that daddy had to rush back to work gave him first out for the meal and the rest of us sat down more leisurely, but with great ado by way of visiting etc. We were off to a good start when there was a dead stop on the part of the elder juvenile, down went her knife and fork and she looked around accusingly. We forgot something we forget to say thanks. Brother was right in for it and the rest of us rather guilty followed suit. But were our collective ears red?

The Law Is To Be Enforced.

The Ohio national guard has been charged by Gov. Davey with the duty of assisting local authority "to prevent lawlessness of every description as it relates to the strike situation."

That means the law is to be enforced impartially on all parties affected by the steel strike. It means non-strikers who want to work will have the fullest protection that local and state government can give them.

It means that strikers who do not wish to return to work under existing circumstances will be protected in their right to picket peaceably. It means a restoration of lawfulness in the strike areas.

Gov. Davey had an obligation to exercise his authority in this way. Last Tuesday, in his original order assigning troops to Warren and Youngstown, he explained the purpose was to maintain the status quo contingent on mediation board action within a "reasonably limited time."

The board's admission of inability to break a deadlock, on Thursday night spared the governor the responsibility of determining a "reasonably limited" time. Thereupon, he rescinded his order to maintain the status quo and instructed the national guard to strengthen and support civil authority.

Four weeks ago the strike commanded considerable public support. Bit by bit, it sacrificed that support to the strategy of violence, as strikers sought to force their will upon non-sympathizers on management and on the public.

The public waited for CIO to request a government supervised vote under the national labor relations act, to determine whether or not it represented plant majorities. The request was not made, and the pendulum of popular opinion began to swing toward a demand for industrial peace. The public suspected this was a strike to sign up members for the CIO. The sympathy which usually goes to strikers when they are made victims of high-handed company tactics began to go to workmen kept away from their jobs by high-handed picket tactics. A new underdog was created. The issue changed from the right to strike to the right not to strike.

The effect of all this on the CIO in the steel industry and everywhere else is not immediately discernible, but this seems clear. The CIO, if it is to survive, must establish the fact and the reputation of responsibility. It must prove it is capable of keeping a contract with management. It must create within its ranks a tradition of discipline and orderliness. These, it is safe to guess, are the things its serious minded leaders are contemplating.

Gov. Davey has recognized and restated the purpose of constituted authority, the reason the United States has stood as a representative democracy for 150 years. That constituted authority must uphold the law, or it ceases to be constituted authority and becomes merely one more victim of lawlessness.

He has made it plain that the people of Ohio are not opposed to industrial unionism and industrial democracy, but do oppose—and will oppose as long as they are free—the practices of coercion, defiance of the law and usurpation of their constitutional rights.

Duckling.

A great many Americans noted the fact on Thursday that government had taken over the Mexican railroads. Some of them possibly remembered that government took over the Mexican oil industry not long ago.

These are sketchy details in a blurred picture of Mexico. The face seems vaguely familiar, but it isn't easy to place. The fact is, the United States with the possible exception of the southwestern states knows almost nothing about its neighbor to the south.

Leon Trotsky takes refuge in Mexico without exciting more than casual comment north of the border. Tourists prepare to go south of the Rio Grande as complacently as they move north into Canada. The communist bogey in Europe and even in Asia is agitated endlessly, but few Americans ever think of it in connection with Mexico.

Yet, in 1934 the National Revolutionary party, which now controls the Mexican government, declared its purpose is to teach that the "ultimate aim of the revolution is to overthrow capitalism" and that youth should be torn "from the hands of the Catholic and other clergy" and taught to analyze religion in the light of reason and science."

North America clucking anxiously over the perils which beset its chicks apparently is too busy to discover that it has a duckling under its wing and that the duckling already has gone swimming.

Setup for a One-Man Show

BY WALTER LIPPMANN

WHEN Mr Philip Murray, of the CIO, offered "in the spirit of good faith" to accept "the President of the United States as the final arbiter in all questions in dispute," he showed how imperfectly he understood the realities of the situation. The President of the United States has disqualified himself as an arbiter in this dispute, and in that central fact lies the fundamental difficulty of settling the issue by the method of reason.

The President is incapable of arbitrating the dispute because unlike the other Roosevelt in the coal strike 30 years ago, he is financially indebted to and politically allied with one party in the dispute. Would Mr Lewis or Mr. Murray accept the President as arbiter if the steel companies were the largest contributors to his campaign fund and if the Liberty League had worked for his election as the CIO worked for it? Would they accept as an administration which had condoned the suppression of picketing as this administration has condoned the occupation of factories by sitdown strikes?

An arbiter must have at least the intention to be impartial. Put where in the record since the famous declaratoin at Madison Square Garden is there anything but evidence that Mr Roosevelt regards himself as the leader of a mass movement rather than an President of the United States? The plain fact of the matter is that Mr. Roosevelt has put what he calls the attainment of his objectives above the obligations of his office.

On that ground alone, on the claim that he must attain his objectives, he has devoted his second term to destroying by any means that seem to him effective the moral and legal rights of those whom he thinks are disposed to stand in his way. The pledges of his platform have been cynically and contemptuously ignored. The independence of the judiciary has been subjected to an assault as devious as it is brutal. An unprecedented power of patronage and money has been used to cajole and coerce congress. The moral right of the citizen to be secure in his reputation until he is convicted in a court of law by a jury of his peers is being ruthlessly disregarded by the wholesale indictment in the press of large numbers of taxpayers.

"Personal Objectives

These are not the tactics of a constitutional ruler. This is not the temper of government by law. This is the exercise of power by a man who has come to think that his ends justify his means. The most shocking thing about it is that in great numbers of people the conviction is rapidly growing that the President is so bent upon his own objectives that he is prepared to deny them their rights. In my own case, for example, I am not I think, much given to alarms and forebodings and I have a deep-seated distrust of reports that ascribe vast grandoise designs to American politicians. I think they plan and plot almost never and that they improvise almost always. In the past it has seemed to me that Mr Roosevelt was an improviser of the first order, and that while he talked a lot about planning, he rarely did plan ahead, and that while he announced "objectives," he was never very clear about what they were.

But since he began his second term I feel let us hope mistakenly, that he really does have a plan and that he is determined to execute it. It is not a plan of social reconstruction. It is not a program of social reforms. Proposals of that sort have been singularly lacking since January. It is a plan, as I see it, to gather together an irresistible power over the economic life of this country and to consolidate that power in the hands of his own following. That, as I read it, is the design of the judiciary bill, of vital parts of the reorganization bill, of the socalled wages-and-hours bill, and perhaps most of all of the insistence upon retaining a free hand in the spending of public money.

I know that there are many sincere men and women who believe these powers are intended only to help the poor and the unfortunate. But I do not think that a President who was primarily interested in helping them would assume, as Mr. Roosevelt does, that they can be helped only by subverting the democratic procedure and the checks and balances of the American constitutional system.

What Next

I do not understand, to take a specific example, why when the green lights are set for a statute outlawing child labor in interstate commerce, the administration prefers to have child labor regulated by a presidential board concerned with a thousand other and separate problems. I can think of no good reason for that except that the administration is more interested in aggrandizing the power of the board than in abolishing child labor.

I wish I could recover the belief that the President really is interested in democratic reforms and not in the establishment of irresistible power personally directed. It is not pleasant to have such fears about the chief magistrate of the republic. But for many long months nothing has happened which helps to dispel these fears. Many, many things continue to happen which accentuate them. These fears, I regret to say, are not confined to the uninformed. They are shared in increasing degree by men who have occupied high places in this very administration and in the confidence of Mr Roosevelt himself.

Experience shows that the appetite for power grows by what it feeds upon, and my feeling is that if Mr. Roosevelt's attempt to enhance his power by the judiciary bill, the reorganization bill, and the wages and hours bill is not checked here and now, we shall see actions that will astonish us even more than the scheme to pack the court. What will they deal with? They will deal, I should guess with the last remaining obstacle to the undisputed power of the administration. They will deal with the independence of the press and if that seems a rash and unfounded prediction, think how rash and unfounded would have seemed the prediction a year ago this month that Mr. Roosevelt would attempt to pack the supreme court. So before any one repudiates the idea too vehemently, let him re-read Senator Ashurst's repudiation of the charge that the court was to be packed and then contemplate the spectacle of Senator Ashurst today.

The logic of Mr Roosevelt's philosophy today points to the hypothesis that, in order to attain his ends he must somehow muzzle the press as he would like to pack the court. In the quest for power one thing leads to another and the incredible soon comes to be regarded as necessary and then accepted as inevitable. The independence of the press is the last remaining obstacle to the consolidation and perpetuation of this new and vast power, and since eternal vigilance is the price of liberty we had better be too vigilant than too incredulous.

What It Means:

New Deal Hair Pulling Contest

By MORGAN M. BEATTY
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, June 26—Headlines tell a confusing story of troubles between the President and some of the Democratic majority in congress.

Some of them hint pretty strongly of a congressional revolt against White House rule. The "revolt" may turn out to be just a family hair-pulling contest—but there is one serious aspect to family spats: they sometimes lead to a wide open split.

The situation is confusing because each time a rift appears, the issue at stake is different.

One day it's the supreme court issue, the next it's relief, again it's flood control, or tax-dodging. Each time, congressmen who disagree with the President explain their stand carefully enough, but the explanation is all clogged up with the details of the question of the moment.

Strip each issue down to fundamentals, and you'll find the rebels suspect the executive of trying to invade legislative territory, or vice versa. And every time one branch of our government suspects another of raiding its domain, political fire works follow.

Sometimes the President wins, sometimes congress or the supreme court; more often the differences are compromised and each branch gets enough satisfaction to save its public face.

No Goat Tail Threat

But there's no denying that the political stage is rigged this year for a knock-down, drag-out party split if either the President or congress loses his or its head.

Mr Roosevelt is in his second term, and congressmen can expect another standard bearer in 1940. Therefore there can be no threats to withhold Presidential coat tails from congressmen who might need to ride them to victory. If politics follow the normal course there will be no Roosevelt on a ballot three years hence. And, too, many congressmen will have to face the electorate next year, long before any Presidential timber arrives on the political scene.

But more important in the current chip-on-the-shoulder contest, is this fact.

The President did not choose to take congressional leaders into his confidence when he proposed to enlarge the supreme court in his favor. Not only did he take his own party majority by surprise but he had the audacity to pin to his message a draft of the legislation he wanted.

Now congressmen have always jealously guarded their right to sponsor legislation. After all, they feel the people have hired them to do the law making. Even if they don't draft all legislation, at least they want to look it over in advance and approve it.

But in the highly important case of the supreme court bill, the President skipped the formalities.

Then what happened?

Kick In The Pants

The public did not unanimously back the President. The issue became murky enough in fact, to tempt some Democratic senators who privately disagreed with part of the new deal program. Here was a chance to kick one of the President's pet ideas in the pants. And kick it they did, through a committee report denouncing the idea as un-American.

The President did not carry his strong tactics quite so far into the rest of his legislative program, but he has gone far enough to set cloak-room tongues wagging and finally, to start some representatives and senators to thinking out loud.

For instance.

Mr Roosevelt asked as usual for a blank check to spend $1,500,000,000 on relief for the unemployed in 1938. The house balked. A huge "economy bloc" insisted a sizable slice of this spending money be ear-marked for roads, flood control, etc. In the midst of the struggle, Representative Joe Starnes of Alabama put the issue rather frankly. Said he "We are fighting for congressional control over federal funds." And fight they did until they won a compromise from the White House that saved their faces, if nothing else.

Love-feast

Said the ever independent Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, one day:

"The resolution (inspired by the White House) for an inquiry into tax dodging gives treasury employes too much power."

Treasury employes being under the executive branch of the government, which Mr Roosevelt very definitely runs, congress took heed to what Mr Borah said, and the resolution was modified so that congress conducted and controlled the investigation. The President had wanted the treasury to do the job.

And so on down the line, until some of the stalwarts decided to hold a love-feast on secluded Jefferson Island off the Maryland shore, far from the roar of congressional debate with the President there to talk, and listen.

Can the Democratic family get together and finish out the current term of congress without the kind of fight that clips political careers and leaves a scar that will always show?

The odds are about even.

Born in Morris county, New Jersey, McLean identified himself with the political life of Ohio, his adopted state. A Democrat, he served in congress as a supporter of the Madison administration, but became so noted as an anti-slavery advocate that he was proposed later as a candidate for president by the Free Soil party.

Significant Third Term Silence

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1937, By The Marion Star

WASHINGTON, June 26—President Roosevelt has been placed in an awkward and embarrassing position with respect to a third term by his own friends and supporters. There is no good reason ordinarily why a president of the United States serving his second term must announce that he will not violate the precedent whereby the American people have never been asked to vote for a president for a third consecutive term.

But when the issue is raised by the governor of one of the largest states in the union, a state which has played recently so vital a part in the campaign the question-ing as to a president's purposes becomes concrete.

Mr Roosevelt tried by means of a radio speech last March to tell the country plainly that he had no third term ambitions. He said he did not want to leave the country in the condition which Buchanan left it to Lincoln. Nevertheless there were many people who at the time expressed the fear that, if a crisis did occur, Mr Roosevelt might feel that he couldn't leave the country to govern itself but that it would need his own services.

Maybe Mr Roosevelt had no such idea. Yet there are just a few words which can dispel all doubts and, until those words now are spoken, the acts of the President are bound to be construed as tinged with a political purpose. Those words have been spoken before by individuals suggested for the presidency, namely General Sherman shortly after the war between the states. The general said: "I will not accept if nominated."

Receptive Silence?

Mr Roosevelt's position in the next three years as an independent force would be immeasurably strengthened if he stated now that he is not a candidate for a third term and would not accept if nominated. Unfortunately, until he makes a statement as unequivocal as this, his own henchmen will go on the assumption that his silence is significant of a receptiveness to a draft movement. Already the secretary of war in Mr. Roosevelt's cabinet has indicated that the President might have to run again. But Governor Earle of Pennsylvania himself prominently mentioned for the Democratic nomination, comes out unqualifiedly for the President for a third term in 1940.

Knowing how important a role Pennsylvania's big delegation plays in a national convention, this means that Mr. Roosevelt is being considered as a probable nominee by his own party leaders. It takes only a majority vote now instead of a two-thirds vote to nominate in a Democratic convention, hence it would be relatively simple for the office holders who dominate the party delegations to bring about Mr. Roosevelt's renomination.

Senator Wagner of New York says Mr Roosevelt will not "seek" the nomination. He does not need to seek it. His very silence will be encouragement to his lieutenants. A nod from Postmaster General Farley and the bandwagon will start among the federal office holders.

Back in 1912, when Theodore Roosevelt after a lapse of four years sought to be made president again after two terms, Woodrow Wilson said, "There is no indispensable man."

The question to be raised by the third term controversy is whether a federal machine operated with huge federal funds can perpetuate a president in office. Members of congress from the president's own party will strive to secure the passage of an amendment to the federal constitution limiting presidents to a single term of six years. Posies for Bellefontaine

BY O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, June 26—Purely personal piffle. I'm always trying to think up something jaunty to say to a new manicure girl. But my supreme effort is something like, "I see they keep you busy." Never met Lois Long she didn't have a honey of a story. Dickens could only write interestingly about men.

No more great American fortunes like Rockefeller's. Yet what enormous good he accomplished. This country's greatest educational lack: Teaching legible handwriting. Least ballyhooed of the orchestra leaders but one with perhaps the most select following, Al Donahue.

If I were running a magazine I'd like to have a contribution each issue from Booth Tarkington, E. Phillips Oppenheim and Alva Johnston. Plug for aviation. Dick Berlin on a round the world flight was smashed up in the skidding of an automobile while motoring between planes.

Prize diplomatic faux pas of the decade: Paul McNutt's blunder in the Philippines. Old Scrooge note: I've reached the point where Shirley Temple can't grow up too quickly for me. Idea of perfect symmetry. A sea gull banking into a fresh breeze for a perfect landing on shore.

* * *

My job as a soda jerker in Dow's drug store in Cincinnati lasted exactly four hours. They caught me treating two girl friends. And was I scooping them up slugs of ice cream! Superb fish dish. The Mascotte's sole with mushrooms, noodles and tomatoes cooked in white wine. Ever so often a super optimist such as Dale Carnegie sticks his head above water, only to be swatted by oars on all sides. Yet there's nothing the wobbly world needs now like optimism. Social security in the 70s. My Scot grandfather, a tinner, went west in a prairie schooner, lost everything he owned in the Nebraska grasshopper blight, began over again at 63 and when he died at 79 owned his own home and a comfortable bank balance. But he wasn't afraid of work.

* * *

Most interesting small city newspaper: Bellefontaine, O., Examiner. Best edited, big-city paper: The Boston Monitor. If I were looking for substantial folk in New York restaurants, I would visit any Schrafft's. Note from a seasoned gadabout: The only way to endure a New York cocktail party is to down five fast ones the first five minutes." Nobody gets that expert clamp on a cigar like Al Smith. Never a notable marriage so universally doomed to failure by the world in general as the Duke of Windsor's. And wouldn't it be nice if he fooled them? Melodious radio voice: Bert Lytell's. If they ever greet me with a band back home I hope it's playing "I Love Louisa."

* * *

Artistic note: One of New York's esthetic decorators has been asked to leave three hotels on account of ungodly snoring. "I wrote Gene Markey's name identical with his signature before I ever saw it. One of the tin horn sports in our town blossomed out in the Gay 90's with a dark red corduroy suit and yellow-topped button shoes. I never tire watching Pat Rooney III do that dance routine. The first beret I ever saw was worn by Georges Carpentier. And did I ransack the hat shops! Horse racing interests me least of sports but I never fail to tune in and get a wollop when Clem McCarthy broadcasts a major event.

"My wife sneezes like a two weeks old kitten's. For good old time vaudeville cross fire patter I tune in on Fibber McGee and Molly. The only industrial bonds—National Steel—I ever bought on my own hunch were the only ones upon which I never lost a penny. I never bought a single article as the result of a radio boost. For a Sunday morning city stroll my choice would be Washington, D. C. Zoe Beckley was the first Park Row "sob sister" I ever met. And the nicest. Keenest of the current monologists: Walter O'Keefe. Never had a magazine or newspaper editor ask me to color a line of my stuff to fit their editorial policies. Greatest emotional wallop in the theater: The premiere of "Outward Bound," the plot of which I did not know—and the sudden realization in the middle of the first act that all of them had died.

* * *

Inventive note: A toothless old river pirate in our town puts rubber bands around his pipe stem to hold it in his mouth. Margola Gilmore is gadding about with those big dark glasses, too. Dodging publicity, tch, tch! Good sportsmanship. Bill Corum getting that silly love stick boy out of a shooting scrape in which Corum was the victim.

NEWS OF STAGE AND SCREEN—MARION THEATER PROGRAM

MARION BOOKS MYSTERY FILM

"Bulldog Drummond Escapes" Returning Sunday, Monday; "Jungle Princess" Billed.

Murder on a fog-bound moor, a kidnapping, the machinations of a counterfeit band, and the imprisonment of a beautiful woman in a house of mystery are a few of the things Bulldog Drummond has to solve in "Bulldog Drummond Escapes," which will return to the Marion screen Sunday and Monday. Ray Milland plays the role of the master sleuth and soldier-of-fortune, assisted by his pal "Algy," played by Reginald Denny. He has to overcome the obstacles thrown in his path by his friendly enemy, Inspector Nielson of Scotland Yard, played by the late Sir Guy Standing. Heather Angel is the beauty whom he rescues and Porter Hall is the evil genius behind the mysterious goings-on. The bill also will offer a return of "Pigskin Parade," a musical football picture featuring Stuart Erwin, Arline Judge, Patsy Kelly, Johnny Downs, Betty Grable, Jack Haley, the Yacht Club Boys, Dixie Dunbar, Tony Martin and Judy Garland. It's recommended comedy, with Patsy and Haley working out a football eleven that's a darb. Patsy prevails upon her husband—coach of Yipee university to put the school's championship basketball team in the backfield and the results are no end surprising and laughable.

Two melodramas, "Parole Racket" and "Let Them Live," will be shown Tuesday and Wednesday. The former features Rosalind Keith and Paul Kelly and exposes a racket to release convicted criminals from prison to continue their murderous exploits under the direction of underworld lords. The story is that of a young detective lieutenant assigned to the racket squad who sets out to reach an unknown powerful personality he believes is behind the wholesale release of murderers and thieves from prison on parole. Kelly is the detective. "Let Them Live" is based on Richard Wormser's novel, "The Stones Cry Out," and reveals the struggles of a young doctor to compel a political ring to correct sanitary conditions in his town. The role of the doctor is played by John Howard. Henry Kolker, Edward Ellis, Nan Grey who clicked in "Three Smart Girls" and Judith Barrett are among supporting players.

"Jungle Princess" starring Dorothy Lamour will make its third appearance in the city on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, returning on a bill with a Peter B. Kyne story, "Two Gun Law" in which Charles Starrett is starred. Miss Lamour plays a beautiful Malayan, orphaned in childhood, who brings herself up in the heart of the jungle with a man-eating tiger and a giant chimpanzee as her only companions. She meets Ray Milland in the forest, the first man she has ever seen, and love awakens in her. Milland soon learns to love her, too, and is finally forced to make the choice between the jungle maiden and Mollie Lamont his betrothed. "Two Gun Law," in which Peggy Stratford is the leading woman, tells the story of the adopted son of a western bad man who decides too late to go straight.

MARX BROTHERS' NEWEST COMEDY ON PALACE SCREEN

Marxmania hit the Palace screen today as the three lunatic Marx brothers, Groucho, Harpo and Chico, began their carrying-on in their latest comedy, "A Day at the Races." The picture will remain through Tuesday. The stars cavort as a horse-doctor pretending to be a specialist on "double blood pressure," a jockey who spurs his horse to win by showing the nag a picture of a man the horse doesn't like, and a vendor of incredibly bad racing tips.

Marx Brothers To Open Palace Parade of Stars

"A Day at the Races" Now Showing; "Nobody's Baby" and "The Woman I Love" Booked.

"A Day at the Races," Patsy Kelly and Lyda Roberti in "Nobody's Baby," Paul Muni and Miriam Hopkins in "The Woman I Live" and Bob Burns and Martha Raye in "Mountain Music" is the Palace lineup for the week.

The Thursday bill, opening a two-day program of the Muni-Hopkins picture, will have an added attraction in a one-act comedy, "The Bride Wore Red Pyjamas," presented on the stage by the Eastern Collegiate Players, six students from the Yale University School of Drama.

"A Day at the Races" opened today and will continue through Tuesday. Maureen O'Sullivan, Allan Jones, Margaret Dumont and Esther Muir support the three mad Marxes in their latest opus since the Marxian epic, "A Night at the Opera."

Their current vehicle has a plot shifting between a sanatarium and a race track, with Groucho in the role of a horse doctor, "Dr. Hugo Hackenbush," Chico as a jockey and Harpo as a race track tout. Jones sings several songs, among them "On Blue Venetian Waters," "Tomorrow Is Another Day" and "A Message from the Man in the Moon." While making the picture, Harpo, the blond with the woman-chasing complex, selected the "seven most chaseable women" in Hollywood. These are the seven whom, for various reasons he would have picked to pursue throughout motion picture scenes if he'd had any running mate he wanted for "A Day at the Races." The "chaseables" are Marlene Dietrich, because her legs should be as fleet as they are ornamental; Eleanor Powell, because she is the fastest thing on two feet; the late Jean Harlow, to prove whether brownettes are as speedy as blondes; Maureen O'Sullivan, because what's good enough for Tarzan is good enough for Harpo; Martha Raye, just for the laugh; the Marx secretary to get her away where she can take a letter from Harpo before Groucho can start dictating; Stella Walsh, because she's the world's fastest woman sprinter.

Lynne Overman, Robert Armstrong, Rosina Lawrence and Don Alvarado head the cast of "Nobody's Baby," which will be shown Wednesday only. Patsy Kelly and Lyda Roberti play student nurses, comically clumsy in learning the technique of their trade. The two girls get in dutch with their admirers, Overman and Armstrong, when they hide the baby of a night club dancer, and the men become convinced that the baby belongs to each other's girl. Nobody's baby becomes everybody's baby until the last scene.

"The Woman I Love," barking of a phrase of the Duke of Windsor's abdication speech, was adapted from the French novel, "L'Equipage," by Joseph Kessel. It was first produced on the screen in France and its director, Anatole Litvak was brought to this country to repeat his European triumph.

In addition to Paul Muni and Miriam Hopkins, the cast includes Louis Hayward, Colin Clive, Paul Guilfoyle, Owen Davis Jr., Mady Christians, Donald Barry, Elizabeth Risdon and others. The story is based on the adventures of the French flying corps during the World war. Two aviators, Muni and Hayward, closer than brothers, fight the enemy from the same plane and unknown to each other, love the same woman, the wife of one. When the situation becomes known in its entirety, the emotional stress of the trio overshadows the events of the war.

Charles "Slim" Timblin, the "Jester Lester" seen by Marion playgoers who attended showings of "Tobacco Road" at the Hartman in Columbus two years ago, plays a hillbilly role in the Bob Burns-Martha Raye comedy which will open next Saturday and continue through Tuesday. The cast also includes John Howard, Terry Walker, George Hayes, Jan Duggan, Rufe Davis, Spencer Charters and many others. The comedy is built around a feud in the Ozarks, with shotgun weddings, houn' dogs, corn pone and pot likker.

"GO-GETTER" ON PROGRAM

George Brent, Anita Louise Co-Starred; "Call It A Day" To Open Monday.

A full slate of popular players promises a week of entertainment on the Ohio screen. The feature today and Sunday is "The Go-Getter" co-starring George Brent and Anita Louise. A sextet of favorites Olivia de Havilland, Ian Hunter, Anita Louise, Alice Brady, Richard Young and Frieda Inescort will appear in the Monday-Tuesday feature, "Call It a Day." It also be the management will include pictures of the Braddock-Louis fight on the last day of the engagement.

"The Go Getter" is based on Peter B Kyne's story with Charles Winninger the Capn Andy of the Show Boat, as Cappy Ricks who owns steamships and operates them out of San Francisco to all parts of the world.

Winninger isnt the go getter he plays the title role, starring with the lovely, wraith like Miss Louise as Cappy's secretary. Before Cappy will let Brent have her the young man must go through a lot of tests devised by Cappy. The opening scene is one of the most dramatic ever shown on the screen. It is the actual plunge of the U. S. S. Macon into the Pacific when a few years ago Brent is one of the crew. He survives but loses a leg and must leave the navy and find a civilian job. Here is how he meets Cappy and Cappy's daughter.

Henry O'Neill, John Eldredge, Joseph Crehan and Helen Valkis are in the cast.

Supporting the six featured players in Call It a Day are Victoria Granville, Peggy Wood, Marcia Ralston, Peter Willes, Una O'Connor, Beryl Mercer and others.

Call It a Day comes under the list of smart, sophisticated films depending to an extent on sparkling dialogue and acting technique. Husband and wife of the family are Ian Hunter and Frieda Inescort.

The young daughter of the house is Miss deHavilland, Peter Willes, imported from the London stage, is the young son and Bonita Granville the brat of "These Three" is the youngest child.

A family friend who becomes infatuated with Miss Inescort is Roland Young home from India and hunting for a good wife—anybody's—and with flighty Alice Brady to aid and abet his suit. Anita Louise plays the girl next door, object of the affections of the young son. An artist who is almost won by the elder daughter is Walter Woolf King. His understanding wife is Peggy Wood. Another who comes near to sweeping the father-husband off his feet is Marcia Ralston.

As a stage play "Call It a Day" ran for a couple of years in London and for more than a year in New York. All in one day the family fall into love and out and bedtime finds them all the same old family, a little more experienced, a lot wiser."

CO-STARRED IN OHIO THEATER FILM.

George Brent and Anita Louise, above, are co-starred in "The Go Getter" now showing at the Ohio. Charles "Show Boat" Winninger heads the supporting cast. Last showings will be made Sunday.

'GREAT GUY' ON STATE SCREEN

James Cagney and Mae Clarke Handle Lead Roles in Film Opening Sunday

James Cagney and Mae Clarke team together in "Great Guy," their co-starring picture which will return to the State screen Sunday and Monday on a double bill with another second run picture "Devils Playground" starring Richard Dix. "Great Guy" pictures Cagney as a deputy in the weights and measures department of a large city who is placed in charge of the department through the "ganging" of his chief by a group of politicians and grafters who seek to control the short weight racket. When he sets out to break up the ring he swiftly finds himself up against powerful forces which ruthlessly seek to destroy him. It's a role Cagney handles with vim. He almost loses the girl he loves, his life is threatened and he is framed and faces disgrace, but he remains steadfast to the trust placed in him by his superior and his duty to the public. James Burke, Edward Brophy and Henry Hoker head the supporting players.

In "Devils Playground" Dix and Chester Morris a team which clicks vie for the love of beautiful Dolores Del Rio. The film presents a tale of romance and adventure with the men of the U. S. battle fleet. Miss Del Rio plays the role of a dance hall hostess whose chicanery and deceit lead to a dramatic situation involving the inseparable buddies.

Girl Overboard in which Gloria Stuart and Walter Pidgeon play the leading roles and chapters 13 of a Buck Jones serial "Roaring West," will be shown Tuesday and Wednesday. Hobart Cavanaugh, Jack Smart and Gerald Oliver Smith provide the comedy in Girl Overboard. The drama is built around a mysterious ship fire on the high seas.

Bette Davis one of the screen's finest dramatic actresses with Fanchot Tone as her leading man is starred in "Dangerous" which will return Thursday through Saturday. It's good entertainment. Bette has the role of a famous actress who after rising to the top of the ladder of success tumbles to the gutter through her own egotism and selfishness although she calls it a jinx, dragging down those who love her. Tone in the role of a young architect, sets about sobering her up and trying to establish her as the brilliant star she had been. Others in the cast include Alison Skipworth, John Eldredge, Dick Foran, Walter Walker and Richard Carle. "Timber Terror," a western featuring John Preston as Morton of the Mounted," will be shown on the same bill.

WHEN YOU ASK A BANK FOR A LOAN

REMEMBER this, the money you borrow may be the savings of your next door neighbor . . . your uncle's, or your aunt's . . . or, maybe, it's the very dollars you've saved yourself from hard work or sacrifice.

Many persons have the notion a bank's funds are strictly its own. If that were true, there'd be no need for government supervision.

As custodians of the community's savings we seek new deposits so we can arrange new loans . . . loans well secured with acceptable collateral.

RED BIRDS DEFEAT MINNEAPOLIS, 5 - 3

Cooper's Relief Pitching Gives Victory to Columbus; Hens Win.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 26 — Toledo's Mud Hens were back on top again today in their stirring struggle with the Minneapolis Millers for first place in the American association.

Two neat pitching performances, the first by Dizzy Trout and the other by Alta Cohen, helped Fred Haney's club to victories over St. Paul in both games of a doubleheader last night at Toledo, while the Millers were losing the opening game of a series at Columbus, 5 to 3. The combination of events boosted Toledo back into the lead with a half-game margin.

Brilliant relief hurling by Morton Cooper, who replaced Max Lanier in the third inning, gave the Red Birds their victory over Minneapolis. Cooper allowed five hits in 6⅔ innings and used his fireball to pile up eight strikeouts. The birds did most of their damage at the expense of Jim Henry who yielded in the fourth and was followed by Grabowski and Baker. Enos Slaughter, Columbus outfielder, hit safely one in four times up to move ahead of his teammate Johnny Rizzo, who was held hitless, in their tussle for the league batting leadership.

Louisville went into a tie for fifth place with Milwaukee by defeating the Brewers, 8 to 6, in another night game.

ALL STATE LEAGUE TEAMS RAINED OUT OF FRIDAY'S GAMES

Fans Likely To See Different Hurlers Tomorrow; First Game at 1:30.

Idle since their glittering 10 to 4 victory over the Tiffin Mud Hens at Lincoln park Thursday afternoon, Marion's Ohio State league baseball club, today was gathering its forces for a doubleheader with the same team tomorrow afternoon at Lincoln park. The first game starts at 1:30.

Marion, along with other circuit teams, was idle yesterday because of the downpour of rain. The Geygantites had been booked to play at Tiffin, Fremont was scheduled at Fostoria and Findlay at Mansfield. Because of the enforced idleness Manager Geygan announced this morning that he hoped to take his cohorts to Findlay this afternoon to play off a previously postponed conflict.

Fans May See Others

In the event that the Findlay field was not in condition for a game, Geyan planned to workout his team on the Lincoln park diamond this afternoon. Fans are likely to see several members of the Marion pitching staff in action tomorrow, who have not previously performed at Lincoln park.

Johnny Brich and Gene Morris are Geygan's likely selection to start on the mound for Marion in tomorrow's doubleheader. If, however, the team plays today at Findlay, Brich was to take his turn on the mound today, moving Bob Van Bergen up to a starting nomination for one of the Sunday games.

All three of the hurlers are righthanders. Brich, a mound veteran split in 20 games for Sandusky last season and this year has a record of three wins and one defeat. He has pitched a total of 33 innings in five games, fanning 22 batters and allowing 29 hits. Hailing from Lakewood, O., he weighs 175 pounds and measures six feet, two inches.

Good Record

Gene Morris has won three and lost three this season for the Sandusky club, pitching 43 innings and striking out 24 batters. Morris' home is in Moberly, Mo., where in the winter season he assists his father in promoting wrestling matches in several surrounding towns. Bob Van Bergen, another Lakewood, O., youth has won two and lost one this season and last year had run up a string of 13 victories against eight defeats. He is a product of the Cleveland sandlots. Van Bergen is 20 years old, Morris is 20, and Brich 22.

No Peace For Old John Bull

John Bull is on the uneasy seat these days, with Mussolini and Hitler in belligerent moods, and the Spanish civil war threatening to flare up into a general conflagration. Old Johnno may try to take his mind off these things by turning to the sport pages, but there his troubles really begin.

It seems that your Uncle Samuel is going to plague the British bounder no end this summer, with crack Ryder and Davis cup teams invading the tight little isle.

The portly J. B. is fairly certain to be relieved of the Davis cup, and America's Budge & Co. will probably be the boys to perform the painful operation. This same Budge is favored to take Britain's cherished Wimbledon crown away with him, with Germany's Von Cramm the second choice.

It also looks like John Bull's links record of never losing a Ryder cup series on British soil is due to be broken. The U. S. Ryder team is so powerful this year that it will be a big surprise if Henry Cotton and the other British pros pull a victory out of the fire. One of the U. S. invaders should grab the British

DRESSEN SEES BIG COMEBACK FOR REDS FROM SIXTH PLACE

Cincinnati Wins Over Bees, 6-2, as Players Improve.

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Writer

One side folks, here come the Cincinnati Reds.

After spending slightly over eight weeks getting his Rhinelanders out of the National league cellar, Charley Dressen popped up today with the heartening news that the Reds have only started climbing.

They've come up suddenly with the ways and means of winning ball games, and in their current home stay have climbed from the bottom of the pack to sixth place.

Their record of six wins and two setbacks give the Reds their first better-than-.500 home stand of the season, and has shown some of the stuff that a lot of the "experts," who were chanting their praises in spring trainings, insisted they had.

Although the Cincinnati sluggers aren't causing any immediate worry for the Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Cardinals, who belted over the Dodgers and Giants, respectively, yesterday, to remain in the one-two spots, Dressen figures it won't be long now.

"We're definitely a better ball club than sixth place," he decided. "And we're out to prove it on the ball field. Watch us from now on."

The sudden return to form of Paul Derringer, who pitched a three-hitter against the Giants last week, is one of the big factors Dressen believes has favored the Reds, and the classy comeback of Chick Hafey is another.

Hafey and another comebacker, the newly-acquired pitching veteran Walter Brown, played a large part in the Reds' 6-2 win over the Boston bees yesterday, which gave them a one-game toehold on sixth place, and left them only two game away from fifth.

The big fireworks in the National league were the Cardinals, entertaining the Giants, gave Mr. Slick Castleman a 14-hit going over and finished on top 9-4, to drop the New Yorkers two full games away from second place. The Cubs retained their one-game lead by walloping the Dodgers 11-2 on Augie Galan's two homers and Tex Carleton's five-hit flinging.

Opening their "crooeial" series with the Tigers, the Yankees handed Tommy Bridges and the Detroits an 8-1 setback, as Bill Dickey's revived power-hitting clouted his sixth homer in five days. The win left the Yanks four games in front in the American League and dropped the Tigers into a second-place tie with the Chicago White Sox, who outlasted the Senators and Wes Ferrell for a 7-6 decision.

Boston's Red Sox made it three straight by topping the Browns 4-2 as Buck Newsom pitched a four-hitter. The Phillies pounded the Pirates 10-5. The Indians and Athletics were not scheduled.

Primed by two straight wins, the Cincinnati Reds sent Lefty Lee Grissom to the mound today in an effort to take another from the Bees. Manager McKechnie of the Bees favored the veteran Guy Bush for pitching duties.

Walter "Jumbo" Brown, newly acquired giant sized hurler, grabbed a 6-2 victory yesterday from Boston in his debut on the mound for the Reds. He was relieved in the eighth by Ray "Peaches" Davis.

Harder was the Cleveland Indians' mound nominee today in the opener of the series against the Athletics which concludes the Tribe's disastrous road trip.

Edgar Smith, Philadelphia portsider, was Harder's probable opponent.

Willis Hudlin and Denny Galehouse are scheduled for duty against the Athletics in tomorrow's double-header. Cleveland was idle yesterday, since the scheduled game was moved up to provide tomorrow's twin bill.

Cleveland has lost eight of its nine contests on the current seaboard swing. The Athletics have dropped their last ten in a row.

TAFT AND ROOSEVELT

William Howard Taft was as loyal to Theodore Roosevelt during the latter's last term in the White House as the president had been to Taft. Before the break between the two in 1911, which developed into the split in the Republican party, each was an ardent supporter of the other.

On one occasion Taft was present at a dinner given in Boston, at which the widely known humorist and after-dinner speaker, Simeon Ford, referred to President Roosevelt as "a blue pill which the nation had to take." Taft resented the remarks and was soon on his feet in defense of his chief.

DELUXE OIL FILTER IS AVAILABLE HERE

Carl's Auto Parts on North Main Street Distributor in Marion.

The DeLuxe automobile oil filter, distributed here by Carl's Auto Parts of 143 North Main street, is so constructed that it effectually removes carbon, acid, moisture, sludge, dust and dirt from the crankcase oil as rapidly as they form.

This results in longer wearing and cleaner oil and less wear on the moving parts of the motor. Without a proven continuous method of removing impurities from oil the engine is being operated with dirty, diluted oil a greater part of the time, no matter how often the oil is changed.

Dirty oil, low mileage, causes excessive wear on cylinder walls and pistons and other moving parts.

For any motorist using a good grade of oil and changing it regularly the DeLuxe filter will pay for itself in 7,000 miles.

Here is a permanent, inexpensive piece of equipment which never wears out and needs no attention except to change the cartridge only when oil becomes discolored. The change is easily made without the use of tools. The cartridge costs less than a change of oil in the average motor, and lasts under ordinary conditions from 4,000 to 5,000 miles.

The DeLuxe filter is sold by Carl's Auto Parts on a money back basis if the purchaser is not satisfied at the end of 30 days.

State Highway Dept. Launches Safety Drive

An intensive personnel safety program has been launched by the Ohio department of highways to reduce accidents among employes particularly highway construction and maintenance.

An outstanding reason for launching the personnel safety program, according to Highway Director John Jaster Jr., is the fact that injuries to state highway employes resulted in the filing of 1,320 claims with the Ohio Industrial commission during 1936. Total cost of these claims to the state highway department was $126,096.48, which on an average would have given 31,749 men a day's work or 122 men a full year's work.

Time loss in consequence of injuries to highway workers amounted to the huge total of approximately 121,229 days.

Causes of injuries to highway workers in 1936 were led by motor vehicles which accounted for 324 accidents. Other leading causes were: Hot or corrosive substances 170, hand tools 157, handling objects 142, falls of persons, 128, machinery 82, stepping on or striking objects, falling objects 45.

Purpose of the personnel safety program, Highway Director Jaster said, is to make all highway employes safety conscious and at the same time, govern actions on the job so as to reduce personnel accidents to a minimum.

Hostesses As Well As Business Firms Find Rental Plan Less Costly.

The problem of linens for parties, large or small, has been solved for many Marion hostesses by the Anthony Towel & Linen Supply Co., operated in connection with the Anthony Laundry on East Center street. A call to the laundry brings the order hastily in one of the company's fleet of delivery trucks which also call to pick up the used articles.

If a hostess needs more tablecloths and napkins, chair covers or dish towels than the family linen closet boasts, or if she doesn't want to add the laundering of table linens to her other work in connection with a party, a call to the Towel & Linen Supply will relieve her of that worry. The linens will be delivered when wanted and taken away after the party with no trouble to the hostess.

But the company's services are not only available to hostesses and housewives but to business concerns as well. Restaurants, cafes and other such establishments are turning to Anthony's in ever increasing numbers for their supplies discovering that in the long run it is less costly to rent than to own. Reasonable rates and prompt delivery service have helped solve the overhead problem for many food dispensers. An adequate supply of jackets for men employes, uniforms for waitresses and table linen is always assured. For the business house that avails itself of the Linen Supply's service there is no worry about the natural wear and tear of garments or table linen and there is no additional laundry bill.

Many Marion business concerns who have found it pays to keep their employes in clean uniforms find Anthony's service invaluable. Barber shops, beauty parlors, restaurants, taverns and cafes and service departments of automobile garages are some of the types of businesses in which the inexpensive use of clean uniforms has proven profitable and advantageous. Butcher coats also are furnished by the concern.

The concern Marion-owned and operated provides one of the number of services offered Marion residents by Anthony's laundry which has been operated in Marion for 30 years. E. J. Schoenlaub is manager.

Some of the types of linens and towels furnished by the concern are: Barber towels and aprons, face and hand towels, beauty parlor towels, butchers', barbers' and gasoline men's coats, chair covers, table linens and dish towels.

DEMAND FOR BUICKS GAIN CONTINUES

FLINT, Mich., June 26—The race with demand is continuing at the Buick factories in Flint with heavy output scheduled for the remainder of June to meet dealers' requirements. Sales during the first 10 days of the month exceeded those of the corresponding period of May, according to W. F. Hufstader, general sales manager, and were 42 per cent ahead of last year.

The executive said that domestic retail deliveries of Buicks during the first 10 days of the month were 7,407 cars against 6,508 during the first 10 days of May and 4,768 in the corresponding period of June a year ago. Output for the current week was scheduled to average above 1,100 cars a day, including export shipments.

REINDEER PROVE SPEED

In a test just completed by the Soviet government reindeer have demonstrated their speed and endurance. The experiment was made with 35 animals in the Nenisi and Komoi regions of the Russian Arctic. They began a run of 1,750 miles across the tundra and its forests from Salegarda in the Yamalo-Nenets region to Omsk. They drew heavily-laden sledges carrying from 265 to 331 pounds. Four of them succeeded in pulling such a sledge 45 to 56 miles a day. The entire distance was covered in 43 days.

GIRLS TOO OLD TO WORK

Chinese girls can be "too old to work" at 19 according to testimony given in the appeal court at Singapore, Malaya. It was stated that a girl of that age was considered to have reached a marriageable age and should not be made to serve in a store. If she were compelled to do so it would appear that she was being "put on show," and her family would, as a result, "lose face."

STAGGERED SHELVES

Shallow closets have always been a problem and the modern housewife has tried many methods of converting them to a logical use. Book shelves may be built in staggered formation, with a tall vase or statue helping to fill in vacant space. Lighting may be concealed in the top of the closet.

A compact, light weight radio transmitting set having a range of more than 100 miles has been developed for private airplanes.

FARM TRACTOR MOTOR CHANGE

High Compression Engines Gain in Favor, Marion Dealer Reports.

Rapid gain popularity among farmer and other tractor users for high compression motors is noted in the tractor sales made by the Fred Dutt Implement store here, dealers for Allis-Chalmers and other lines of farm machinery.

"We started selling Allis-Chalmers tractors Dec. 1, 1934, Mr. Dutt said. In our first year we sold 33, all low compression. In our next year we sold 40, two of which were high compression. In the last five months, eight out of 20 new tractors sold were high compression, and 24 of the ones previously sold were changed over to high compression. Thirty-five per cent of the tractors sold in the last two and one-half years are now high compression, and all my tractors are now ordered from the factory with high compression pistons.

"Our customers tell us that their high compression jobs have lots more power, there is less wear and tear on the engine, they don't have to add oil until time for the regular change, and they save from 15 to 30 per cent on fuel. We recommend that our customers use good regular-grade gasoline with their high compression tractors."

There is a general trend toward the use of regular grades of gasoline in farm tractors.

The use of regular gasoline in high-compression tractor motors eliminates wasteful crank case dilution, which results in better lubrication and reduces the rate of wear commonly experienced when low-grade fuels are used.

Most tractors can be changed to high-compression by installing high-compression pistons and the cost is practically the same as when standard parts are installed.

An automatic timing device has been invented that enables a photographer to set a camera for exposures ranging from half a second to 10 seconds.

Grueling Test Run Won by Graham Supercharger

Leading a field of 25 cars of all makes and price classes a Graham Supercharger won the sweepstakes award in the Gilmore Los Angeles-Yosemite economy run, recently, for the second consecutive year. Second place in the contest this year was also won by a Graham, a Cavalier (unsupercharged) model.

The winning Graham Supercharger 116 showed an average of 33.4 ton miles per gallon, according to officials of the contest board of the American Automobile association who supervised the event. The victorious Supercharger was again piloted by Clay Moore of Los Angeles.

Last year Moore, driving a Graham Supercharger model also won the Yosemite sweepstakes award. In duplicating his feat again this year Moore sets an entirely new precedent as no car or driver has ever won the event twice in succession.

In addition to capturing the sweepstakes award for two straight years, Graham added to its laurels this year by placing second in the contest with a Cavalier driven by Osborne Wedgworth. The Cavalier averaged 32.246 ton miles per gallon A. A. A. officials reported.

Ton miles are computed by multiplying the weight in tons of the car, passengers and baggage by the distance traveled and dividing by gasoline consumption in gallons. This is the official method of computing fuel consumption used by the A. A. A. contest board.

In addition to first and second place against the field the Grahams also led in their respective classes. The Supercharger 116 won first place in class L while Cavalier took first place in class D. Entrants in the contest were divided into eight classes according to weight and selling price.

This year the run was a battle against near zero temperatures and icy pavements over 252 miles of the toughest mountain roads in the country. The annual Yosemite "stingy drivers' run is the only contest in which the stock cars of practically all American manufacturers are entered. Economy at average speeds is the object of the contest and competition among the entrants is at its keenest.

Commenting on the amazing records hung up by the Graham entrants in the run, F. F. Kuhline, chief engineer of the Graham-Paige Motors corporation, said: "This new victory demonstrates again the truth of our oft repeated statement that economy is a fundamental characteristic of all Graham-built cars. The repeated victory of the Supercharger over all other entrants conclusively proves the peak economy possible with this device which was developed in our own engineering laboratories."

"The results of this Gilmore Yosemite economy run, sanctioned and controlled by the A. A. A. are indisputable. All cars entered are operated under the strict rules and observation by officials making this the most outstanding contest for stock cars."

Belgium has enacted a law establishing a 40-hour week in dangerous or unhealthy industries and the government has appointed a commission to study its application to the coal and iron and steel industries.

Wool Market

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, June 26—Because of the inability to make immediate deliveries of wool from the Boston market on account of the strike, mill business for current needs was shut off during the past week. However buyers continued to look around for wools they may need later but they made few commitments.

Despite the lack of trading there was a fairly confident undertone regarding prices and quotations were unchanged on spot wools. Graded combing Ohio fleeces were quoted nominally at 40 to 42 cents in the grease for fine delaine at 42 to 43 cents for staple combing half blood at 42 to 44 cents for three-eighths blood and at 42 to 41 cents for quarter blood.

STEELS, RAILS LEAD SLUMP

European Crisis and Steel Strike Outlook Keeps Traders Cautious.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 26—Steel and rail shares were a fore of a slow downward movement in the stock market today, with leaders off fractions to more than a point.

A more unfavorable outlook in the Mediterranean quelled uncertainty over steel strike developments kept traders out of the market.

While industrial news was not dismal, no positive factors were in evidence to bring out buying support.

The pace was slow and toward the finish most prices were near their lows for the day.

All divisions shaded in the downturn. Some earriers were at new lows for the year.

Transfers approximated 250,000 shares.

Commodities were uneven and bonds with the exception of some South American issues were irregularly lower.

Bottom marks for the year were hit by Northern Pacific, New York Central and Pennsylvania railroad.

Other conspicuous losers were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Chrysler, American Telephone, American Smelting, Westinghouse and General Electric.

Pallo continued her slide of yesterday to be surprise of some observers who considered reported lagging May net income had been already discounted. Apparently they said increased carloadings and prospects of better gross through heavy crop shipments had been discarded in view of higher operating costs.

Steels were more resistant but they too followed the slipping tendency. Traders felt developments in the strike are were too nebulous upon which to base market opinion at the moment and support was lacking in any volume.

WHEAT PRICES SLIP AMID SALES SPREE

Northwest Crop Outlook Good as Well as Fields in Ohio Valley

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 26—Wheat prices fell under the pressure of profit taking and commercial selling to prevent losses today. The market declined more than a cent a bushel late in the session after showing steadiness earlier in the day.

Offsetting the drouth complaints from western Canada and rust and grasshopper reports from crop experts inspecting domestic wheat fields were advices that the spring wheat belt as a whole is slowly but surely rounding out one of the best crops in several seasons. Comment from the Ohio valley indicated good yields are in prospect there.

Wheat closed ½@1 cent lower compared with yesterday's finish; July 115½@¾, September 116½@¾, and corn was ¼ off to 1 cent up; July new 123½@¾, September 106¾@09. Oats gained ½@1¼.

HEAT A PROBLEM AT NORTH POLE

By The Associated Press

SOVIET NORTH POLE BASE (By Wireless to Moscow), June 26—Heat created a north pole housing problem today.

The ice block house built for the radio station at the Soviet polar base has melted away. Even the ice floe on which the camp is built has become precarious weakened by rain.

All scientific work has ceased while the four Soviet observers are busy moving the camp.

The base is being shifted closer to the center of the more than half mile square ice floe. The main tent has been propped on planks to protect it from the water and the radio apparatus has been crowded into it.

STRIKES CUT INTO SALES TAX RETURNS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 26—Strikes in northeastern Ohio's gigantic steel industry have affected sales tax returns to such a great extent that tax officials announced today collections would be less than in 1936.

Florida food exemptions and exemption certificates for non-residents all have cut into tax returns although commissioner members said they believed collections would exceed those of last year except for conditions in the steel areas.

Tax receipts for 1936 totalled $88,381,856, but Walter Mitchell, tax commissioner, was reluctant to predict collections for 1937.

"If it had not been for unforeseen handicaps we would have collected as much as if not more than in 1936, despite exemptions," Mitchell asserted.

STOCKS BREAK EVEN IN WEEK

Good and Bad News Balance and Traders Continue Cautious

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 26—The stock market balanced good and bad news during the week and finished without recording much progress.

Traders eyeing steel of the developments, new political tension in Europe and the possibility of a further devaluation of the franc held off for the most part to await a turn in events.

On no day did the turnover reach 600,000 shares—just half the 1,200,000 Wall Street thinks is necessary to enable brokerage firms to break even.

Offsetting unfavorable factors were reports of an increase in volume of wholesale and retail trade a less than seasonal decline in steel bookings despite labor troubles and a more than seasonal loading of freight cars.

The rails however suffered toward the end of the period when reports indicated may not income had dwindled due to higher costs although gross had improved.

Brokers took some heart from the resistance of steels mainly engendered by hope the newly appointed mediation board might accomplish some soothing at least of the strike crisis.

Toward the end however weakness of the rails spread to this division and moderate recessions resulted.

Events in Europe appeared to have a mixed effect. Some brokers found a mildly inflationary aspect in the situation of the franc and the European position generally, and it was said cotton, rubber and some other war baby shares enjoyed a mild mid week rally.

Listed bonds were inclined to drift lower in an inactive market. On the other hand new flotations totaling around $130,000,000 were absorbed and an even larger amount promised for next week.

Commodities were mixed with the non-ferrous metals tending higher on renewed strength in the European markets.

AGREEMENT NEARER IN BUDGET DISPUTE

Davey Accepts Three Basic Points Insisted Upon by Senate Bloc

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 26—Gov. Martin L. Davey's acceptance of three basic points insisted upon by senate leaders gave rise to new hope by a legislative conference committee that it would be able to agree Monday on rival state appropriations bills.

Davey refused to yield on a fourth point, the all inclusive budgeting of the state in one bill, said Sen. Horace W. Baggott, Democrat of Montgomery who conferred with the executive. Baggott said however that the senate was willing to yield this item.

Also unsettled remained the parochial school issue with some senate committee members insisting on retention of an earmarked $1,000,000 for textbooks in public, private and parochial institutions.

Baggott said that the governor agreed to accept senate limitation of the budget a redefinition of rotary funds so as to save an estimated $1,000,000 to $1,300,000 for the general revenue fund and a provision that all budget savings be set aside for future disposition by the legislature.

Baggott reported that the governor threatened to veto the appropriations act if it retained a senate provision barring transfer of employes from one state department to another without altering their payroll designations. A senate provision limiting the control board's authority to transfer funds within a departmental budget also drew the governor's opposition.

DOUBLE SLAYING PUZZLES POLICE

By The Associated Press

IRONTON, O., June 26—A possible motive for the roadside slaying of Evans Barnett, 36, and Mrs. Mae Davis, 40, puzzled investigators today while Sheriff B. R. Monte hunted three mysterious men mentioned in his one tangible clue to the crime.

Joseph Kidd who found the bodies side by side on a deserted side road 12 miles northwest of here said three men in a large car stopped early yesterday morning at the Lawrence county rock crusher where he was serving as night watchman.
